

The Greenman in Autumn

I've created the Greenman or rather a succession of Greenmen over the past few years. One came to be featured as the cover of Tournaments Illuminated. One appeared at the Society's Fiftieth Anniversary A&S Display. On Facebook it was humorously labeled for a time as a green gelatin item (lime Jello-O in fact) before being corrected identified as a cast sugar item.

But Autumn calls for the Greenman to assume his fiery Fall foliage and so here he is in Autumn colors.

The full documentation for the entry including historical background, historical recipes along with instructions, photos, and hints appears in Tournaments Illuminated, Issue 202, Second Quarter, 2017. This "Featured Article" is titled "Adventures in Sugar Casting" and appears on pp 29-33. The interim Spring 2017 issue of the Citadel, local newsletter of the Barony of Cynnabar, contains a background article on the topic of Greenmen and Foliate Heads. See <https://cynnabar.org/files/Citadel2017-Spring-Interim.pdf>

Respectfully submitted

Johnnae Ilyn Lewis

JK Holloway

Photos taken by my son Patrick Holloway. Not for publication.